Deep Sea Cats Cause Interest in Hawaii

Believing that they could rid their pet cats, Solomon and Duncan, of fleas, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Morgan of Honolulu, carried the cats 20 feet out into the Pacific Ocean and forced them to swim ashore. They thought the salt water would do away with the fleas.

The cats sputtered and yawled, because they didn't like the water.

The fleas persisted, but so did the Morgans. Salt water ducking was the week-end event for Solomon and Duncan.

As a result the two cats have become addicts of the briny deep. They are a novel pair along Kahala beach these days and attract many of the beach loungers with their aquatic escapades.

ROSE CITY ELECTS

At the annual meeting of the Rose City Cat Club (ACA), the following officers were elected:

Mrs. B. W. Wilson, President; Mrs. L. C. Pershing, vice-president; Mrs. Otto Friedli, treasurer; and Mrs. Nathan J. Heath, secretary, all of Portland, Oregon. Directors' names are C. A. Knight, Mrs. Pearl R. Allison and Mrs. W. L. Mahoney. Delegate at large is Mrs. James H. Clifton, San Francisco, Calif.

ANOTHER HEROIC CAT

Tabby, a pet cat, spread the alarm by a continuous yowling to save the lives of its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Silas Newcomb of Mashpee, Mass.

The warning was given when Tabby saw flames spreading from a fire in a defective chimney of the Newcomb house. The warning gave the Newcombs enough time to escape the blaze that destroyed their home. Buster, the dog playmate of Tabby, was lost in the fire.

CAT CAT-A-LOG

Cats Magazine has a lot to do with my change from owner of a pet cat to a novice breeder. I am still bewildered by having my shaded silver Persian female sent from New York by air for my surprise Christmas present from my husband. The cat came from an ad of Mrs. R. Copeland of Rochester, N.Y., in November Cats Magazine. My cat bible is "Cats and All About Them," that I sent to the Fairchild Cattery for from its ad in Cats also. So you can see Cats Magazine is my "cat cat-a-log."

DIFFERS ON CLIPPING

In the February issue the following appears:

"Keep the claws of your cat clipped. Start this process when it is a kitten."

Why? I can offer any number of reasons for NOT doing so, and quote just one, from "How to Live With a Cat," by Margaret Cooper Gay:

"You shouldn't cut a cat's claws, except when introducing it to a dog. Cutting them won't make a cat stop scratching the furniture, it will only make Puss scratch harder to whittle the claws down to a point. Lack of claws may cause a cat to fall when otherwise it would have slipped and caught itself . . . etc."

WANTED: One Cheshire Cat!

Everyone has heard the phrase "grinning like a Cheshire cat," but not one seems to know where a living animal of the breed can be found.

Not long ago the mayor of Chester, England, got a letter from an American in Chicago. This man had just attended a cat show, which was a hobby of his. He wondered why no one in America ever went in for breeding and showing Cheshire cats. He asked the mayor to send him one.

The author of this literary fantasy wrote that the Cheshire cat "looked good-natured, had very long claws and a great many teeth."

One old-timer in the City of Chester said that there were Cheshire cats long before they appeared in the pages of Alice in Wonderland. These, he said, were made of Cheshire cheese, molded in the form of cats. It was the custom to give the faces of these sculptured cheeses amiable expressions, which, he said, started the old saying, "grinning like a Cheshire cat."

It is possible that the Yankee has a lively sense of humor and knew all the time that "there ain't no such animal." But the people of Chester took his letter seriously. They, through their mayor, informed the writer that there is no such feline outside the pages of Alice in Wonderland.

It is likely, these old residents say, that Lewis Carroll had heard the phrase many times and found that it fitted perfectly into his fantasy about a little girl named Alice and her experiences in a land of the imagination.

None of the other characters she met in the classic fairy tale actually existed, so it was proper for her to run into an animal that had, until her time, been bred only by the skilful hands of cheesemakers.

The inquiry from the United States revealed that many an Englishman has been supposing that the celebrated Cheshire cat is something more tangible than a myth and that, somewhere in Cheshire County, there are or used to be felines peculiar to the place.

POLICE WHISTLE

"Could you tell me the date of a traffic accident at the corner of 15th and Main sometime during April?" an anxious feminine voice inquired of the police department.

After much digging through the files an officer was able to report to the troubled woman that the accident happened on April 24.

"Now, what else do you want to know about the accident?" he asked obligingly.

"That's all," replied the troubled voice. "That's the day my cat got out, and I just wanted to know when to expect her kittens."

B.-L.I. Reelects Slate; Party Set May 13

Officers of the Brooklyn-Long Island Cat Club were reelected at the group's February meeting. These are Mrs. Norah M. Andrews, president; Mrs. Florence Hamilton, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Hildebrand, secretary; and John Hildebrand, recording secretary.

Mrs. Norah M. Andrews

It was announced that the sixth annual show will be held Nov. 18-19.

A spring party will be held at the Granada Hotel, Tuesday, May 13. A "Model" Cat Show will be held in the evening in which entrants will be toy or stuffed cats in any medium including figurines. Percentage of proceeds will go to a cat charity. Interested readers desiring additional information should contact Mrs. Helen Hildebrand, 12 Roosevelt Court, Brooklyn 32, N.Y.

Rabbitsnapper Pulls Mammoth Feat To Puzzle Owners

In Skokie, Ill., live Walter and Hazel Rogers. They have a cat named Ditto. One night they were awakened by a disturbance in their home. To their amazement they found that Ditto had kidnapped a rabbit.

The Rogers were puzzled by the manner in which Ditto carried the rabbit up a 10-foot long, 4-inch ramp to a bedroom window and through a 6-inch trap door. There was quite a commotion when Ditto and the rabbit landed in the bedroom. The rabbit sought refuge in the adjoining bathtub and the Rogers held Ditto prisoner in the kitchen. Then the rabbit was turned loose outside the home.

$500,000 To Establish New Animal Refuge

A half-million dollar refuge for cats, dogs and other small animals, has been established at Ripley, N.Y.

The foundation is the result of a provision of the will of the late Mrs. Bertha L. Hamilton, widow of a New York congressman. The refuge is to be constructed on Mrs. Hamilton's 20-acre estate, with John C. MacFarlane of Delmar, N.Y., in charge.

"I Strongly Recommend LABCO PET SHAMPOO"

says MRS. JOHN REVINGTON, outstanding cat show judge and breeder, of 942 Anderson Street, Bristol, Tennessee. "Fleas cause a lot of the rustiness on cats, besides being host to tape worms. Therefore, I feel that LABCO PET SHAMPOO is a double-barrelled weapon of defense. Southern fanciers are prone to blame rust on climate and therefore will welcome LABCO because it cleans thoroughly, and keeps the coat in show-condition. I also use LABCO for spraying and scrubbing the quarters."

BREAK-OUT

With the May issue Cats Magazine adds Acme Newspictures Service to its Editorial Department thus assuring its readers of pictures of cats in unusual situations or poses from all over the world.

And that isn't all! Your friend, Mrs. Walter E. Limpert, returns with a full column of up to the minute gossip on cats, catteries, the breeders and the owners from Coast to Coast! Her sprightly column, BREEDERS' DIGEST, will be a regular feature each and every month of the year beginning in May! We urge that you write direct to Mrs. Limpert, R.F.D. 1, Mentor, Ohio if you have any news of interest to cat owners everywhere, to your friends, to yourself. PLEASE DO NOT SEND ANY PERSONAL MATERIAL to us. Write Mrs. Limpert!

Be on the lookout next month also for an interesting new article on chinchillas by Mr. D. Deans-Henderson. It will be the answer to many of your questions. And for those of you who have feeding questions with your kits, Helen G. Fairchild has it all worked out — and then some!

Guess you thought we had forgotten, didn't you, Midwesterners! Oh no! We are saving until now the reminder that May will feature the 1947 All-Midwestern. Big question is, What cat has been chosen the AM-1947 blue MALE? That's a secret. We will let you in on it next month.

TROPHY

Several candidates for the Annual Cats Magazine Award for 1947 have been received. These candidates will be discussed at length next month. We just cannot go any further. We are at the end of the page! See you next month!

APPRECIATION

Your editor and Mrs. Kenny wish to extend their sincere thanks and appreciation for the thoughtful remembrances received from all over the United States and Canada as a result of the recent loss of their daughter, Mary Dianne. The flowers, telephone messages, telegrams, cards and letters that have been received from you lessen the burden in their hearts.

CAMPAIGN

Those interested in organizing a club in LOUISVILLE, KY., are urged to communicate with Mrs. Necolia Slobodian, 119 No. 46th Street, Louisville, Ky. There are sufficient subscribers to Cats Magazine who will read this to organize a fine big club. Come on, give Mrs. Slobodian a great big hand!

Here's one for those of you residing in or around BREMERTON, WASHINGTON. Contact Miss Betty Lee Binns, 1597 Snyder Avenue, Bremerton, Wash. The club is underway and just needs you to help swell the ranks. Anybody else?

SHOWGIRL

We are delighted to present April's cover girl because we believe it to be the outstanding photograph of a Persian. Rosemont's Gorgeous Goddess exemplifies the finest in showmanship and exquisite beauty. This 6 1/2 month old Blue female is owned by Mrs. James W. Partlan of Detroit, mistress of the famous Dbl. Ch. Beau Barry. Usually the photographer "makes" an unusual photograph. However, in this instance, Gorgeous Goddess "takes over." A brilliant cat with a brilliant future! She knows what it is all about! Bravo!

AE-1947

With this issue Cats Magazine presents The 1947 All-Eastern Sectional Cattery, composed of the cats in the opinion of the judges of all sanctioned shows, to be standouts in Eastern United States and Eastern Canada. These fine cats have been chosen on the basis of competition in exhibitions against cats of their own classification, sex and color by means of a mathematical rating system. Every effort has been made to be fair and honest. All cats are owned by those who live in the area comprising the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey as well as the Province of Ontario of the Dominion of Canada.

Several cats accumulated points by competing outside their home area.

There may be better cats than several of those selected to 1947 All-Eastern, and if there were, these better cats did not have sufficient competition or appeared in too few exhibitions to justify their inclusion to the Cattery. This is borne out by the point scoring.

We can only state that those with the better cats than those listed will have sufficient opportunity to compete against the All-East's Best next year.

All rankings are based on performances during the season extending from October 30, 1946 through February 9, 1947.

No changes will be made in the All-Eastern selection! All selections are final! Cats Magazine will not enter in correspondence with anyone concerning the All-Eastern selections. The die is cast!

Cats Magazine wishes to thank those who have supported the selections with paid advertising to honor their prized possessions by the inclusion of the photographs for the interest of the entire Cat Fancy. We are sorry that owners were not given sufficient time to arrange for photographs. We are sorry also to have been forced to eliminate those that were received after the deadline. Better luck next time!

Ribbons and certificates of award will be presented to the owners at a time and place in the Eastern area to be announced later.

WHAT DOES A STONE CAT MEAN TO A LIVE CAT?

By IDA M. MELLEN

A stone cat, placed by a kindly Cat Man in the yard of the premises at the rear of my home, proved of the most interest to a majority of cats living in the neighborhood, who came to inspect it, singly and jointly. In its presence they did not quarrel. The tomcats sat and studied its features intently, or lay beside it on the stone slab and pushed against it affectionately with their feet, and in one instance a powerful animal actually caused the figure to move slightly. It weighs thirty pounds.

The stone cat is seldom without a living satellite. Some visit it by day, others only in the evening. One ancient tomcat with similar coloring, white and black spots, has spent hours and days in close association with the garden model, his favorite pose being one as nearly the same as possible and always when seated directly in front of it. No cat has ever been seen sitting behind the image, all preferring to place themselves before it or at one side.

The most charming reaction, however, has been that of a tortoiseshell-and-white female from two doors away.

She approaches the image from the rear, walks half way around it, seats herself before it, and gazes up raptly into its face for a moment; then rearing on her hind legs, she throws her arms around its neck!

One heavy-jowled, battle-scarred tiger with an abbreviated tail comes in the early morning to make his toilet under the eye of the stone cat, glancing up occasionally at its face as though hoping for approval.

What does the stone cat mean to the live cat? A lifetime of study of the feline expression of sheer adoration in the face of a full grown gray-and-white tom. Were a cat to look at me like that, it would make me feel very humble. Feline eyes have bestowed upon me love and yearning, amusement, trust and gratitude, but never adoration.

What is there in the figure that causes the old tom whose "head is bending low" to seek its company daily? Why did the adoring gray one never return, though he can be seen in neighboring yards? Why does the little female come only about once a fortnight? What reason had a glossy black cat for appearing regularly at dusk and seating itself (sex unknown) until long after dark two feet away from the stone cat, with eyes fixed upon it, but latterly arriving once in mid-afternoon, kissing the figure squarely on the mouth, then dozing at its feet? Without being a cat, one cannot hope to know; and even if one were a cat, would one know why all the other cats act differently from oneself? I doubt it, and can only say with certainty that the effect of the stone cat on the living cat is benign.

mentality does not enable me to venture a complete answer. Facial expressions are revealing, but in each animal they differ. # How Much Should I Pay for a Cat?

By RITA SWENSON

With the show season in the immediate background, our thoughts turn naturally to breeding and the eventual disposition of kittens which we hope will prove a credit to us and our stock. A question cropping up frequently among newcomers is, "what prices should I ask for my kittens," or, conversely, "what price should I pay for a pure bred kitten?" It might be advisable at this time to find answers to these questions.

Many factors contribute to price setting. First, what does it cost to produce a pure bred kitten, without taking into consideration any value it may have as a show specimen? The answer may be a surprise to many who have not given the question much thought.

At the present time, due to the high cost of horsemeat (25 cents a lb.) it averages 75 cents a week to feed an adult cat (exclusive of vitamins), or approximately $39 a year. To this must be added a stud fee ranging from $15 to $35, and travelling expenses for the queen. If a litter of four is born, the cost to the breeder for each kitten is about $18. If a small litter results, the actual cost of each kitten would be appreciably higher. This price does not include the cost of the kitten's own feeding after weaning, nor such items as the original cost of the queen, veterinarian fees, expenses of housing and sanitation, and the breeder's own efforts in caring for her stock.

It will be understood from these figures that a pure bred kitten is born only after some expense to the breeder.

Other points effecting the price of a pure bred kitten, and most important, are bloodlines, show records, individual excellence of the purchase, and demand for the stock of a particular breeder.

Certain breeders in this country, due to the remarkable number of outstanding cats they have bred through the years, find themselves in the enviable position to "write their own ticket" as far as kitten prices are concerned. It is simply the case of supply and demand. If a breeder, after years of hard work, finds her stock sought after, with many inquiries reading, "price no object," what is more natural than that her stock be priced proportionately with this demand? In any field of endeavor, success usually means higher "returns." So it is with breeding. Buying from the successful breeder has SO many advantages. One of the most important is the breeder's ability to evaluate the points (Continued on Page 18)

NOTICE

The attempt of an anonymous writer to smear the good name and honor of the Publisher and Editor of CATS MAGAZINE by means of a postcard campaign directed to every breeder and exhibitor in the United States, is called to your attention.

In fairness to the owners whose cats have been selected to the rankings in the All Eastern and future sectional listings of the All America, please be advised that in no instance has any cat been selected upon paymntn of "a little money."

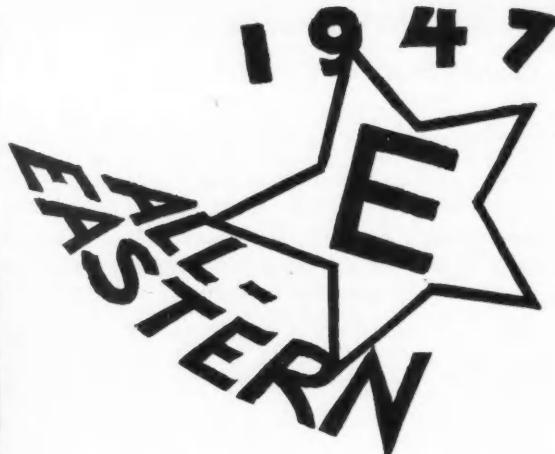

Every precaution has been taken to rank the cats fair and honestly.

The Publisher and Editor of CATS MAGAZINE disclaim any attempt to "abolish" C.F.A. and C.F.F. with the object of establishing a "new organization more easily controlled" and "most important the judges."

The viciousness of this campaign is reflected by the total disregard of the TRUTH. That is why the sender could not have the courage to SIGN HER NAME!

Since the smear is the handiwork of a disgruntled crackpot, the Publisher and Editor hopes that every member of the Cat Fancy will have the good, clean judgement of disregarding these distorted assertions.

The All America is an honest effort, free from ANY nasty implications and underhanded maneuvers. It is NOT A "RACKET," a term that could be applied only in the event that it is controlled by "a little money."

Cats Magazine proudly presents THE 1947 ALL-EAST-ERN sectional rankings of THE ALL-AMERICA CAT-TERY.

Forty-seven cats, representing Four Divisions are named. Of this total 28 are included in the Long Hair (Persian) Division; 3 in the Manx Division; 6 in the Foreign Short Hair Division; and 10 in the Domestic Short Hair Division.

Selections are made only on the basis of showing of entries in exhibitions sponsored by the American Cat Association, the Cat Fanciers' Association and the Cat Fanciers' Federation. A special point system was devised prior to the official opening of the 1946-47 Show Season (October 30, 1946 — March 23, 1947).

The 1947 ALL-EASTERN Sectional Rankings therefore, is a consensus of opinion of the judges of all shows staged, based on competition of each cat against its own color, sex and classification, plus certain credits obtained from the title of Best Cat and the Best Opposite Sex.

The cats that comprise The ALL-EASTERN Sectional Rankings may carry, if their owners desire, the "degree" of A-E 1947 following their names.

The cats will be duly honored with 1947 ALL-EASTERN RIBBONS, to be presented at early shows during the 1947-48 season. In addition, each owner will be presented with a Certificate of Award for each selected cat.

Since each cat has an accumulated point score, and the highest in its individual class, color and sex in the Eastern area, it automatically qualifies to compete against similar cats representing the Midwest, the South, and the Far West, for the right to be judged the 1947 All-America Cat. The individual cat in the competition, accumulating the greatest total of points, will be judged the 1947 Cat of the Year. All-America cats will be presented with rosettes and Certificates of Award. Cat of the Year will be presented with a Special Award.

BLUE MALES CONTINUE ROMP TO BEST CAT IN ALL BREED SHOWS

Blue males continued to carry off Best Cat awards at the majority of shows held in January and February in the Midwest and Far West with this popular color reaching the top in three of the four all-breed shows. The lone exception was the Double Champion Exquisite of Pets Beautiful, the fine blue-eyed white female which came through at the Badger Feline Fanciers at Milwaukee, the first CFF exhibition held in the Midwest.

Exquisite, owned and bred by Mrs. Helen Kay Mackiewicz, topped the field to add additional points to her laurels to virtually clinch All-Midwest honors in class, sex and color.

Blues won out at the California Cat Club event at Hollywood with Mr. Charles Victor's Wimauma Masterpiece of Chalsu, male, coming through. At North Shore Cat Club, Chicago, Ch. Dixi-Land's Pearl Harbor Yank, another male, owned by Mrs. John Revington, topped the field. At the Ohio State Persian Club exhibit at Columbus, Ohio, Chally Blue Boy, another male, received the nod.

The California Cat Club had two supporting specialty shows, featuring the California Silver Fanciers in which Ch. Duffy of Beverly-Serrano, shaded silver male owned by Mrs. Jessie C. Hazlett, carried off Best, and the Foreign and Domestic Short Hair Society in which Ch. Fairchild's Fan Tan, seal point female, owned by Mrs. Helen G. Fairchild, won over heavy opposition.

The parentage of the winning All Breed show cats have been published previously, but a note should be made of the specialty winners.

Ch. Duffy of Beverly-Serrano, shaded silver male winner in the Silver Fanciers' show, was sired by Ch. Starlight Heart Bandit II ex Ch. Chiquita Linda, while Ch. Fairchild's Fan Tan is the offspring of Fairchild's Pang Yo of Newton ex Fairchild's Pai Su.

It is interesting to note the first appearance of 1947 All-Eastern cats in the show results that follow. This is made available with the formal announcement of the All-Eastern winners for 1947 in this issue.

The two Eastern standouts are Ch. Eiderdown Wa-Vermilyen (AE-47), the red female, that went Best Champion at the Ohio State Persian show, and Kute Kit Delphi Prince Djali (AE-47), the shaded silver owned by Mrs. H. Earl Nack, that received Best Opposite Sex at the Badger Feline Fanciers first Midwest try.

"CAT TYPHOID" (ENTERITIS) CAN BE PREVENTED

By L. H. FAIRCHILD, M. D.

In an early issue of Cats Magazine I wrote an article entitled "Show Fever." Since then I have had many requests for information regarding this disease which has been dubbed many different names, for instance "Cat Typhoid," "Show Fever" and "Infectious Gastro-Enteritis." These are all terms for one common disease which is scientifically called "Infectious Panleukopenia," a very contagious and terrible disease that strikes down a cattery over night and may kill all cats and especially kittens within 24 hours after they first show signs of illness.

If a cat owner once has experienced this calamity, he never wants to see it again! However, it is foolish for one to do as the ostrich — stick one's head in the sand — and ignore the facts about the condition and hope that it will never strike again. The truth of the matter is that the disease can be prevented.

The method is simple and within easy reach of anyone who owns a cat.

An item in a recent Boston newspaper reported an epidemic of Cat Typhoid, so-called because of the effects the disease has on the animal. In human typhoid there is a reduction of white cells in the circulating blood. There is also marked intestinal symptoms with severe watery stools. So also in this cat disease is there a severe loss of white blood cells and severe stomach and intestinal inflammation.

The cat at first usually shows sudden loss of appetite. Examination at this time may disclose a rise in temperature to 104 or 105 degrees Fahrenheit. Soon afterward, there is vomiting with stringy, tenacious and foamy mucus. This vomiting is frequent and is repeated continually. A person may even believe that the cat has been poisoned. Then the cat takes a quiet and toxic attitude, disinclined to move; sits with head drooping over a water dish, unable to swallow any water because of a swollen throat.

Effective treatment can only be given during the initial rise in temperature and then only with Anti-Enteritis Serum. We have seen no evidence of any beneficial action with sulfa drugs, penicillin or other medications. If the temperature drops to 99 degrees or below there is little hope of any recovery.

In prevention we now rely in Feline Distemper Tissue Vaccine. The brand we have been using for the past five years is prepared by the Lederle Company. In that time our cats have been repeatedly exposed and we have lost none from this dread disease. The only cases that we have heard of in which the vaccine has apparently failed to give complete protection is that in which the vaccine was out dated at the time of its use or when the cats were in a poor state of health at the time they were vaccinated.

We learned of one case where the disease was so virulent that no treatment or prevention was of any value. We have known of some cats that died of the epidemic disease and the owners declared they had been vaccinated. But upon closer questioning we found that Serum or some other medicant of questionable potency had been used as a preventive instead of Vaccine.

Before the vaccine was developed, we used a serum for prevention but found it to be only weak protective that had to be repeated every 3 or 4 weeks during the season when the disease was known to be prevalent.

Vaccinate your kittens as soon as they are three months old, or even earlier if there is an epidemic threatening the neighborhood! Be sure the cat is in good physical condition at the time of inoculation because the chances of a successful result will be greatly enhanced!

STOPS CAT-ITCH

For years, veterinarians were baffled by a common skin disease that caused untold agony in dogs and cats. Starting as a burning itch, it soon develops dandruff-like scales and brownish edged sores with a mouldy odor in ears, on paws, under-body, back or around tail. Treatments for mange, fleas, allergy or faulty diet result only in costly care or actual loss. Now, noted veterinarian, Dr. A. C. Merrick, has positively identified this disease as a fungus infection comparable to "Athlete's Foot." He has named it "fungitch" and has also developed SULFODENE, a treatment proved amazingly effective in thousands of clinical cases. Applied externally, Dr. Merrick's SULFODENE stops the itch in a few minutes — scales and sores vanish in a few days. Buy today where you get pet foods or remedies — or send $1.00 for generous treatment; money back if it fails to give complete satisfaction. Address Brookfield Laboratories, Dept. D-367, Brookfield, Illinois.

in each kitten properly, and the bloodlines it carries.

Those who underestimate the value of bloodlines, place an obstacle in their path as far as success in breeding is concerned. If I were to buy a kitten but could not afford the show type, then I most certainly would buy the breeder type, carrying the same blood as her more showy sister or brother. "Blood will tell," is an old saying, but apt, for it is a well known fact that nothing holds up so well.

As to bloodlines, there are certain strains well known for consistently producing typy offspring. Kittens from these bloodlines are frequently promised to buyers well in advance of their birth. This demand for good blood is evidence of the realization on the part of established breeders and some newcomers, that it is to their advantage to invest in a reliable strain. Therefore it is far cheaper to buy something good, than to buy from inferior stock that must be built up.

Building from mediocre stock by outcrossing with good stock is a slow, expensive process, as anyone who has tried it, will admit. One might better invest in something good in the beginning. In the show room, a saving of $20 or $25 doesn't mean much if your cats consistently place Second and Third, instead of First!

Rarity of breed or color does not effect price a great deal. At least I have not found it so. A good kitten or cat of ANY breed or color has value. Siamese and Blue Persians are more plentiful than are Silver Tabbies, Smokes and Abyssinians, yet I know of no price cutting in the former breeds. A good cat is a good cat regardless of whether there are a hundred in the country or only a dozen.

In purchasing a kitten produced from an outstanding show type male or female, or pair of winners, one should expect to pay more than for a kitten of similar pedigree whose parents have never been exhibited. Exhibiting cats is expensive, but in the showing we prove the merits of a particular cat or cats. Once a cat has gained a reputation in the shows, his or her kittens are in demand.

This year, with the advent of the

HOW MUCH?

All-America Cattery, we find a new factor that will have a strong influence on price. One should expect that kittens from cats giving ratings in the Sectionals and All-America, will command higher prices. If a cat wins consistently in the shows, it must naturally be conceded one of the finest show specimens in its particular color or breed. Too, the publicity attending the listing of these All-America and Sectional winners is bound to create interest. The wire services of the newspapers in each area will probably carry the names of the winners, so it is easy to foresee an upswing in business. Though the point scores will vary greatly in the different colors and breeds, due to the size of the various classes, the winners must, in any event, be considered quality cats.

In purchasing a show type kitten, one should expect to pay more for it than for a breeder type carrying the same bloodlines. The reason is obvious — the show kitten is the choice one, the one that can be depended upon to bring home those valued blue and winners ribbons to add to the pleasure of the owner. Since breeder and pet types are cheaper, they cannot be expected to win major awards in exhibitions.

In reference to actual prices, in which many prospective buyers are interested, I do not believe any pure-bred kitten, regardless of type, color, or bloodlines, can be bought for less than $25. In view of the actual cost to the breeder of each kitten raised, this price leaves her a very slim margin. In buying a breeder-type kitten, i.e., one of good pedigree that would prove suitable as a producer of good kittens, one should expect to pay $35 and up, depending a great deal upon the strain and the demand for that strain. A show kitten can command almost any price.

In checking prices with a few breeders, I find most of them start their prices at $50 with many outstanding kittens bringing in a hundred dollars.

As for buying an adult cat, breeder type or champion, no one but the owner can determine a fair price. I know of one cat that was recently offered for sale at $300. The prospective buyer did not consider the price exorbitant. Tho' cat had already made his mark in the shows, winning Best Cat twice!

Quite often, breeders reduce stock to make room for promising kittens or new stock. This is the time to obtain a bargain. Breeders are often so interested in placing their cats in a good home that they overlook their own profit.

At present there is definitely a boom in cats which is expected to reach an all-high by June or July. This I attribute to the excellent stories appearing in newspapers, magazines, and on the radio; to the consistent advertising of Cats Magazine in the largest publications in the country including such stand-outs as Good Housekeeping and Ladies Home Journal; the extensive use of cat and kitten subjects in national advertising of the large business houses; the fine press notices accorded shows this year, and the numerous new clubs that have been organized.

In view of this great interest, it takes no genius to predict that the day of THE CAT is here!

Breeders should allot a certain specified sum for advertising. Approximately one-eighth of all gross business, or 12½ cents on the dollar should be set aside for consistent advertising — not new and then. Steady advertising means steady business. Don't overlook the classified sections of your daily or weekly newspaper.

Int. Champion Manx Dies in Chicago

The international champion, Ginger of Manx of Glen Orry, a red tabby manx, died suddenly February 23. He was fourteen years of age and owned by Ruth and Ellen Carlson, West Chicago, Ill.

Ginger was born on the Isle of Man and was imported by the owners from Denmark in 1936, after he had phenomenal success in shows in Europe. His final continental appearance was at Copenhagen where he went Best Cat in Show.

In America, Ginger was shown in Canada and the United States. Seventeen different judges had honored him with high awards.

The Chicago Museum of Natural History is now in possession of this remarkable cat for future mounting and skeletal record.
